“Desmos is the single most important tech tool for high school math teachers (middle school teachers will like it too). Whether you are introducing ordered pairs for the first time or explaining Newton’s quotient for the tenth time, Desmos is your tool.” - Timothy Spray.

Science World

<https://www.scienceworld.ca/pro-d/> Professional development workshops are typically designed for groups of 8 to 32 educators. In addition to the workshops listed, we are starting weekly teacher pro-d sessions on September 30th and our team is also available for online classroom workshops with students.
